Do you know what your pretined color is? For you have ne, wen though you are unaware of the ract. If you want to be successful, garb yourself in the harmonious hue, for color makes or mars the life of every unsuspecting mortal. At least, so says Mrs. F. F. Wieland, high priestess of a kaleidoscopic creed, which she has just brought to town. This rainbow religion, tinged according to taste, provides you with a color, whether you will or no, for it was all arranged in the heretofore, when you were quite too young to utter a protest if you were tagged with an unbecoming tint. So, if you are fated to view life through rose-colore.. goggles, or, perhaps, a green eyeshade, stick to your colors if you want success, even though you don't admire the dye.

"Life is a prism," said Mrs. Wieland yesterday afternoon, in explaining her mysterious color scheme. "Every person has color, as well as a name, which belongs to them before birth and which rules their lives after they come into this world. In the early ages, when people were gross and base, dark colors prevailed, but as we develop spiritually the lighter shades are chosen. Look on the streets and you will find that all kinds of pale tinges are worn, which shows that we are gradually developing
